Press Release

Access Display Group Hires Graphic Designer Julie-ann Gray

Freeport, New York., October 7, 2010

Access Display Group, Inc. (ADG) a leading designer, manufacturer and distributor of changeable poster displays, sign frames, display cases and other signage display frame fixtures, adds Julie-Ann Gray as graphic designer.

Julie-Ann joins ADG's growing team of 18 employees and will play a critical role in helping ADG expand its online presence.

In the past two years, ADG has launched four new e-commerce websites: Displays4Sale.com, SwingPanels.com, FloorStands.com and SnapFrames4Sale.com. The company intends to roll out several more websites in the upcoming months.

"The addition of Julie-Ann is part of our strategy to hire the best and brightest new employees that we can find locally," says ADG president Charles Abrams. "We are building a crack team to help us execute our plan of developing an extensive list of niche websites that offer the finest selection of signage and poster displays and other display fixtures that designers and buyers will find meet their project needs."

Julie-Ann is a recent Graduate of SBI-Campus (Sanford Brown Institute of Melville, Long Island) and has a degree in graphic design. Before joining ADG in June 2010, she worked as a Jr. Graphic Artist for a marketing company, developing skills that she is already using in her new position.

"Being a part of the ADG team lets me use and develop my creative skills in exciting ways," says Julie-Ann Gray. "With ADG launching all these new websites, I have the opportunity to get in on the ground floor and add my creative touches from the very beginning."
